

HART PLAYS CARDS IN CHICAGO JAIL

Appears Very Weak, and Keepers Say He Is in Serious Physical Condition.

IS VISITED BY HIS WIFE.

Declares Earnestly That He Will Be Able to Prove His Innocence of the Murder of Little Irene Klokaw.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 8.—While the authorities were working to-day on the powerful chain of circumstantial evidence against Doctor Oliver Hart, the last link of which, they assert, is now in place, Doctor Hart lay on a couch in the hospital at the county jail and reiterated his original declaration that he is the victim of circumstances and would be able to prove his innocence.

Later in the afternoon, he insisted in sitting up and played a game of cards with his fellow-prisoners.

His extraordinary pallor, which has been attributed to the use of drugs, his keepers say, may be due to his weakened condition. Although rather over the weight, his complexion is so pronounced that it is doubtful if he weighs more than 100 pounds.

REITERATES HIS INNOCENCE. Hart admitted he had been instructed by his attorney not to discuss the details of his case.

"I can only say that my father has faith in my innocence," he affirmed, "and that he will use every means to defend me. I am innocent of the horrible crime with which I am charged, and I shall be able to prove it at the trial."

Hart was visited by his young wife to-day. She was accompanied by her father and was pitifully affected by the sight of her husband, who appeared to be in a weak and frail condition. The girl stroked his hand, and wept as she talked to him.

Children of the mother employed by the American Home-Finding Association, who are now being brought out of the hospital at the county jail, were told that their father, who is now in the hospital, was adopted by the Hart family through the association's agency.

Neighbors say Hart has long been under suspicion because of his immediate fondness for children, and that careful investigation of his past life should have been made.

J. W. Hopper, who is a treasurer of the association and lives at the Hart home, declared that he had never seen Hart before the murder.

It is said that Hart, after the murder, took up with a woman named Mrs. Park, who is now in the hospital, and that he was with her when the murder was committed.

Dr. Hart's father, who is now in the hospital, was visited by his wife to-day. She was accompanied by her father and was pitifully affected by the sight of her husband, who appeared to be in a weak and frail condition.

Dr. Hart's father, who is now in the hospital, was visited by his wife to-day. She was accompanied by her father and was pitifully affected by the sight of her husband, who appeared to be in a weak and frail condition.

Dr. Hart's father, who is now in the hospital, was visited by his wife to-day. She was accompanied by her father and was pitifully affected by the sight of her husband, who appeared to be in a weak and frail condition.

Dr. Hart's father, who is now in the hospital, was visited by his wife to-day. She was accompanied by her father and was pitifully affected by the sight of her husband, who appeared to be in a weak and frail condition.

Dr. Hart's father, who is now in the hospital, was visited by his wife to-day. She was accompanied by her father and was pitifully affected by the sight of her husband, who appeared to be in a weak and frail condition.

Dr. Hart's father, who is now in the hospital, was visited by his wife to-day. She was accompanied by her father and was pitifully affected by the sight of her husband, who appeared to be in a weak and frail condition.

Dr. Hart's father, who is now in the hospital, was visited by his wife to-day. She was accompanied by her father and was pitifully affected by the sight of her husband, who appeared to be in a weak and frail condition.

Dr. Hart's father, who is now in the hospital, was visited by his wife to-day. She was accompanied by her father and was pitifully affected by the sight of her husband, who appeared to be in a weak and frail condition.

Dr. Hart's father, who is now in the hospital, was visited by his wife to-day. She was accompanied by her father and was pitifully affected by the sight of her husband, who appeared to be in a weak and frail condition.

Dr. Hart's father, who is now in the hospital, was visited by his wife to-day. She was accompanied by her father and was pitifully affected by the sight of her husband, who appeared to be in a weak and frail condition.

Dr. Hart's father, who is now in the hospital, was visited by his wife to-day. She was accompanied by her father and was pitifully affected by the sight of her husband, who appeared to be in a weak and frail condition.

Dr. Hart's father, who is now in the hospital, was visited by his wife to-day. She was accompanied by her father and was pitifully affected by the sight of her husband, who appeared to be in a weak and frail condition.

Dr. Hart's father, who is now in the hospital, was visited by his wife to-day. She was accompanied by her father and was pitifully affected by the sight of her husband, who appeared to be in a weak and frail condition.

Dr. Hart's father, who is now in the hospital, was visited by his wife to-day. She was accompanied by her father and was pitifully affected by the sight of her husband, who appeared to be in a weak and frail condition.

LADS OF EXACTLY SAME AGE DIFFERENT IN WEIGHT AND HEIGHT

IVAN RUBOV AND VIRLIE C. WHINERY. The 18-year-old students of the public school of Eldora, Ia., whose height and weight are so different.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL. Eldora, Ia., Oct. 8.—There are two lads of this town of the same age, that is, 18 years, but one weighs 220 pounds and measures 4 feet 4 inches in height. Rubov is the other weighs less than forty pounds and measures 5 feet 10 inches in height. Both are pupils of the Eldora public school.

The larger lad's name is Virlie C. Whinery and the smaller is Ivan Rubov. They are good students and are in the same ward school.

Whinery was born in Germany a year ago, and has not well mastered the English language as yet, but will soon catch up with Whinery.

Whinery was born in South Dakota and his parents are of the ordinary size. Rubov is a stocky, stocky, and Whinery wants to be a farmer. Whinery is an expert on the football field and is the star of the high school eleven.

Whinery has mastered the trade of a barber and works the razor with the grace of a veteran. He has been dubbed the smallest barber in the world.

Whinery has mastered the trade of a barber and works the razor with the grace of a veteran. He has been dubbed the smallest barber in the world.

Whinery has mastered the trade of a barber and works the razor with the grace of a veteran. He has been dubbed the smallest barber in the world.

Whinery has mastered the trade of a barber and works the razor with the grace of a veteran. He has been dubbed the smallest barber in the world.

Whinery has mastered the trade of a barber and works the razor with the grace of a veteran. He has been dubbed the smallest barber in the world.

Whinery has mastered the trade of a barber and works the razor with the grace of a veteran. He has been dubbed the smallest barber in the world.

Whinery has mastered the trade of a barber and works the razor with the grace of a veteran. He has been dubbed the smallest barber in the world.

Whinery has mastered the trade of a barber and works the razor with the grace of a veteran. He has been dubbed the smallest barber in the world.

Whinery has mastered the trade of a barber and works the razor with the grace of a veteran. He has been dubbed the smallest barber in the world.

Whinery has mastered the trade of a barber and works the razor with the grace of a veteran. He has been dubbed the smallest barber in the world.

Whinery has mastered the trade of a barber and works the razor with the grace of a veteran. He has been dubbed the smallest barber in the world.

Whinery has mastered the trade of a barber and works the razor with the grace of a veteran. He has been dubbed the smallest barber in the world.

Whinery has mastered the trade of a barber and works the razor with the grace of a veteran. He has been dubbed the smallest barber in the world.

Whinery has mastered the trade of a barber and works the razor with the grace of a veteran. He has been dubbed the smallest barber in the world.

Whinery has mastered the trade of a barber and works the razor with the grace of a veteran. He has been dubbed the smallest barber in the world.

Whinery has mastered the trade of a barber and works the razor with the grace of a veteran. He has been dubbed the smallest barber in the world.

DELEGATES TO CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION ARE ASKED TO REASSEMBLE TO SIGN THE OFFICIAL COPY OF FUNDAMENTAL LAW ADOPTED.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL. St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 8.—Chief Porter, chairman of the Missouri Constitutional Convention, has called a meeting of all delegates to the convention to be held in South McAlester, Saturday, October 12. This meeting is called for the purpose of having the 23 delegates to the convention sign the official copy of the Constitution.

At this time, also, will be taken up the matter of the closing work of the campaign. One of the most important features will be the question of changing the date of the election from November 1 to November 3, to make it come on Saturday instead of Friday, on the theory that this will bring out a larger vote.

This meeting will have the power to make amendments to the constitution, or to strike out any clause which may seem injurious. There are some who advocate the striking out of the clause which prohibits any change whatever. If any change is made it will be in the nature of a proposition, eliminating the clause which prohibits any distinction between union and non-union labor, between union contracts. If this change is made it will contract the favor of union labor men, but it will also bring about a change in the single-state platform and press on the grounds that the separate states are desirable and that the union is not a desirable thing.

The meeting is likely to be a large-attended one.

At this time, also, will be taken up the matter of the closing work of the campaign. One of the most important features will be the question of changing the date of the election from November 1 to November 3, to make it come on Saturday instead of Friday, on the theory that this will bring out a larger vote.

This meeting will have the power to make amendments to the constitution, or to strike out any clause which may seem injurious. There are some who advocate the striking out of the clause which prohibits any change whatever. If any change is made it will be in the nature of a proposition, eliminating the clause which prohibits any distinction between union and non-union labor, between union contracts. If this change is made it will contract the favor of union labor men, but it will also bring about a change in the single-state platform and press on the grounds that the separate states are desirable and that the union is not a desirable thing.

The meeting is likely to be a large-attended one.

At this time, also, will be taken up the matter of the closing work of the campaign. One of the most important features will be the question of changing the date of the election from November 1 to November 3, to make it come on Saturday instead of Friday, on the theory that this will bring out a larger vote.

This meeting will have the power to make amendments to the constitution, or to strike out any clause which may seem injurious. There are some who advocate the striking out of the clause which prohibits any change whatever. If any change is made it will be in the nature of a proposition, eliminating the clause which prohibits any distinction between union and non-union labor, between union contracts. If this change is made it will contract the favor of union labor men, but it will also bring about a change in the single-state platform and press on the grounds that the separate states are desirable and that the union is not a desirable thing.

The meeting is likely to be a large-attended one.

At this time, also, will be taken up the matter of the closing work of the campaign. One of the most important features will be the question of changing the date of the election from November 1 to November 3, to make it come on Saturday instead of Friday, on the theory that this will bring out a larger vote.

This meeting will have the power to make amendments to the constitution, or to strike out any clause which may seem injurious. There are some who advocate the striking out of the clause which prohibits any change whatever. If any change is made it will be in the nature of a proposition, eliminating the clause which prohibits any distinction between union and non-union labor, between union contracts. If this change is made it will contract the favor of union labor men, but it will also bring about a change in the single-state platform and press on the grounds that the separate states are desirable and that the union is not a desirable thing.

The meeting is likely to be a large-attended one.

At this time, also, will be taken up the matter of the closing work of the campaign. One of the most important features will be the question of changing the date of the election from November 1 to November 3, to make it come on Saturday instead of Friday, on the theory that this will bring out a larger vote.

This meeting will have the power to make amendments to the constitution, or to strike out any clause which may seem injurious. There are some who advocate the striking out of the clause which prohibits any change whatever. If any change is made it will be in the nature of a proposition, eliminating the clause which prohibits any distinction between union and non-union labor, between union contracts. If this change is made it will contract the favor of union labor men, but it will also bring about a change in the single-state platform and press on the grounds that the separate states are desirable and that the union is not a desirable thing.

The meeting is likely to be a large-attended one.

At this time, also, will be taken up the matter of the closing work of the campaign. One of the most important features will be the question of changing the date of the election from November 1 to November 3, to make it come on Saturday instead of Friday, on the theory that this will bring out a larger vote.

This meeting will have the power to make amendments to the constitution, or to strike out any clause which may seem injurious. There are some who advocate the striking out of the clause which prohibits any change whatever. If any change is made it will be in the nature of a proposition, eliminating the clause which prohibits any distinction between union and non-union labor, between union contracts. If this change is made it will contract the favor of union labor men, but it will also bring about a change in the single-state platform and press on the grounds that the separate states are desirable and that the union is not a desirable thing.

The meeting is likely to be a large-attended one.

At this time, also, will be taken up the matter of the closing work of the campaign. One of the most important features will be the question of changing the date of the election from November 1 to November 3, to make it come on Saturday instead of Friday, on the theory that this will bring out a larger vote.

This meeting will have the power to make amendments to the constitution, or to strike out any clause which may seem injurious. There are some who advocate the striking out of the clause which prohibits any change whatever. If any change is made it will be in the nature of a proposition, eliminating the clause which prohibits any distinction between union and non-union labor, between union contracts. If this change is made it will contract the favor of union labor men, but it will also bring about a change in the single-state platform and press on the grounds that the separate states are desirable and that the union is not a desirable thing.

The meeting is likely to be a large-attended one.

At this time, also, will be taken up the matter of the closing work of the campaign. One of the most important features will be the question of changing the date of the election from November 1 to November 3, to make it come on Saturday instead of Friday, on the theory that this will bring out a larger vote.

This meeting will have the power to make amendments to the constitution, or to strike out any clause which may seem injurious. There are some who advocate the striking out of the clause which prohibits any change whatever. If any change is made it will be in the nature of a proposition, eliminating the clause which prohibits any distinction between union and non-union labor, between union contracts. If this change is made it will contract the favor of union labor men, but it will also bring about a change in the single-state platform and press on the grounds that the separate states are desirable and that the union is not a desirable thing.

The meeting is likely to be a large-attended one.

At this time, also, will be taken up the matter of the closing work of the campaign. One of the most important features will be the question of changing the date of the election from November 1 to November 3, to make it come on Saturday instead of Friday, on the theory that this will bring out a larger vote.

This meeting will have the power to make amendments to the constitution, or to strike out any clause which may seem injurious. There are some who advocate the striking out of the clause which prohibits any change whatever. If any change is made it will be in the nature of a proposition, eliminating the clause which prohibits any distinction between union and non-union labor, between union contracts. If this change is made it will contract the favor of union labor men, but it will also bring about a change in the single-state platform and press on the grounds that the separate states are desirable and that the union is not a desirable thing.

The meeting is likely to be a large-attended one.

At this time, also, will be taken up the matter of the closing work of the campaign. One of the most important features will be the question of changing the date of the election from November 1 to November 3, to make it come on Saturday instead of Friday, on the theory that this will bring out a larger vote.

This meeting will have the power to make amendments to the constitution, or to strike out any clause which may seem injurious. There are some who advocate the striking out of the clause which prohibits any change whatever. If any change is made it will be in the nature of a proposition, eliminating the clause which prohibits any distinction between union and non-union labor, between union contracts. If this change is made it will contract the favor of union labor men, but it will also bring about a change in the single-state platform and press on the grounds that the separate states are desirable and that the union is not a desirable thing.

The meeting is likely to be a large-attended one.

MINISTER WHO RESEMBLES ROOSEVELT ASHAMED TO GO TO HEAVEN BEFORE 70

The Reverend Doctor Ira Landreth of Nashville, Tenn., Tell. Y. M. C. A. Audience That to Succeed a Man Must Be Well, Physically and Morally, and Wise Enough to Accept Invitations of Opportunity—Declares President Is Right Ninety-Nine Times Out of a Hundred, but Wishes He Could Note Difference Between Blondes and Brunettes.

Speaking on "The Man for the Twentieth Century," the Reverend Doctor Landreth of Nashville, Tenn., declared to a large audience at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon that he would be ashamed to show his face in heaven before the age of 70 years.

Doctor Landreth is eloquent and bears striking resemblance to President Roosevelt in speech, manner, and attitude. To offset this similarity, Doctor Landreth declared that he is a Democrat and "expected to remain one as long as he could."

While the Doctor is a great admirer of the President, he is not a fanatical admirer. He said that he could not agree with some of Roosevelt's policies and ideas, and wished, among other things, that the chief executive was able to note the difference between blondes and brunettes.

In prefacing his remarks on "The Man for the Twentieth Century," Doctor Landreth said that he was born and reared on the farm and gloried in it. He said the moral conditions in the country are not equal to those in the city, and declared that the reason men from the farm are not equal to those from the city is that they are not acquainted with the city.

"To succeed, a man must be well physically," said the doctor. "The Twentieth Century is a time of great opportunity, but it is also a time of great temptation. Every man must be well enough, wise enough and good enough to accept the invitations of opportunity. To fail in the Twentieth Century is the unpardonable sin. It is a disgrace to be physically incapable of grasping opportunities."

The doctor declared that he himself would be ashamed to show his face in heaven before the age of 70 years. He said that he was born and reared on the farm and gloried in it. He said the moral conditions in the country are not equal to those in the city, and declared that the reason men from the farm are not equal to those from the city is that they are not acquainted with the city.

"To succeed, a man must be well physically," said the doctor. "The Twentieth Century is a time of great opportunity, but it is also a time of great temptation. Every man must be well enough, wise enough and good enough to accept the invitations of opportunity. To fail in the Twentieth Century is the unpardonable sin. It is a disgrace to be physically incapable of grasping opportunities."

The doctor declared that he himself would be ashamed to show his face in heaven before the age of 70 years. He said that he was born and reared on the farm and gloried in it. He said the moral conditions in the country are not equal to those in the city, and declared that the reason men from the farm are not equal to those from the city is that they are not acquainted with the city.

"To succeed, a man must be well physically," said the doctor. "The Twentieth Century is a time of great opportunity, but it is also a time of great temptation. Every man must be well enough, wise enough and good enough to accept the invitations of opportunity. To fail in the Twentieth Century is the unpardonable sin. It is a disgrace to be physically incapable of grasping opportunities."

The doctor declared that he himself would be ashamed to show his face in heaven before the age of 70 years. He said that he was born and reared on the farm and gloried in it. He said the moral conditions in the country are not equal to those in the city, and declared that the reason men from the farm are not equal to those from the city is that they are not acquainted with the city.

"To succeed, a man must be well physically," said the doctor. "The Twentieth Century is a time of great opportunity, but it is also a time of great temptation. Every man must be well enough, wise enough and good enough to accept the invitations of opportunity. To fail in the Twentieth Century is the unpardonable sin. It is a disgrace to be physically incapable of grasping opportunities."

The doctor declared that he himself would be ashamed to show his face in heaven before the age of 70 years. He said that he was born and reared on the farm and gloried in it. He said the moral conditions in the country are not equal to those in the city, and declared that the reason men from the farm are not equal to those from the city is that they are not acquainted with the city.

"To succeed, a man must be well physically," said the doctor. "The Twentieth Century is a time of great opportunity, but it is also a time of great temptation. Every man must be well enough, wise enough and good enough to accept the invitations of opportunity. To fail in the Twentieth Century is the unpardonable sin. It is a disgrace to be physically incapable of grasping opportunities."

The doctor declared that he himself would be ashamed to show his face in heaven before the age of 70 years. He said that he was born and reared on the farm and gloried in it. He said the moral conditions in the country are not equal to those in the city, and declared that the reason men from the farm are not equal to those from the city is that they are not acquainted with the city.

"To succeed, a man must be well physically," said the doctor. "The Twentieth Century is a time of great opportunity, but it is also a time of great temptation. Every man must be well enough, wise enough and good enough to accept the invitations of opportunity. To fail in the Twentieth Century is the unpardonable sin. It is a disgrace to be physically incapable of grasping opportunities."

The doctor declared that he himself would be ashamed to show his face in heaven before the age of 70 years. He said that he was born and reared on the farm and gloried in it. He said the moral conditions in the country are not equal to those in the city, and declared that the reason men from the farm are not equal to those from the city is that they are not acquainted with the city.

"To succeed, a man must be well physically," said the doctor. "The Twentieth Century is a time of great opportunity, but it is also a time of great temptation. Every man must be well enough, wise enough and good enough to accept the invitations of opportunity. To fail in the Twentieth Century is the unpardonable sin. It is a disgrace to be physically incapable of grasping opportunities."

The doctor declared that he himself would be ashamed to show his face in heaven before the age of 70 years. He said that he was born and reared on the farm and gloried in it. He said the moral conditions in the country are not equal to those in the city, and declared that the reason men from the farm are not equal to those from the city is that they are not acquainted with the city.

"To succeed, a man must be well physically," said the doctor. "The Twentieth Century is a time of great opportunity, but it is also a time of great temptation. Every man must be well enough, wise enough and good enough to accept the invitations of opportunity. To fail in the Twentieth Century is the unpardonable sin. It is a disgrace to be physically incapable of grasping opportunities."

The doctor declared that he himself would be ashamed to show his face in heaven before the age of 70 years. He said that he was born and reared on the farm and gloried in it. He said the moral conditions in the country are not equal to those in the city, and declared that the reason men from the farm are not equal to those from the city is that they are not acquainted with the city.

"To succeed, a man must be well physically," said the doctor. "The Twentieth Century is a time of great opportunity, but it is also a time of great temptation. Every man must be well enough, wise enough and good enough to accept the invitations of opportunity. To fail in the Twentieth Century is the unpardonable sin. It is a disgrace to be physically incapable of grasping opportunities."

The doctor declared that he himself would be ashamed to show his face in heaven before the age of 70 years. He said that he was born and reared on the farm and gloried in it. He said the moral conditions in the country are not equal to those in the city, and declared that the reason men from the farm are not equal to those from the city is that they are not acquainted with the city.

"To succeed, a man must be well physically," said the doctor. "The Twentieth Century is a time of great opportunity, but it is also a time of great temptation. Every man must be well enough, wise enough and good enough to accept the invitations of opportunity. To fail in the Twentieth Century is the unpardonable sin. It is a disgrace to be physically incapable of grasping opportunities."

The doctor declared that he himself would be ashamed to show his face in heaven before the age of 70 years. He said that he was born and reared on the farm and gloried in it. He said the moral conditions in the country are not equal to those in the city, and declared that the reason men from the farm are not equal to those from the city is that they are not acquainted with the city.

"To succeed, a man must be well physically," said the doctor. "The Twentieth Century is a time of great opportunity, but it is also a time of great temptation. Every man must be well enough, wise enough and good enough to accept the invitations of opportunity. To fail in the Twentieth Century is the unpardonable sin. It is a disgrace to be physically incapable of grasping opportunities."

The doctor declared that he himself would be ashamed to show his face in heaven before the age of 70 years. He said that he was born and reared on the farm and gloried in it. He said the moral conditions in the country are not equal to those in the city, and declared that the reason men from the farm are not equal to those from the city is that they are not acquainted with the city.

"To succeed, a man must be well physically," said the doctor. "The Twentieth Century is a time of great opportunity, but it is also a time of great temptation. Every man must be well enough, wise enough and good enough to accept the invitations of opportunity. To fail in the Twentieth Century is the unpardonable sin. It is a disgrace to be physically incapable of grasping opportunities."

The doctor declared that he himself would be ashamed to show his face in heaven before the age of 70 years. He said that he was born and reared on the farm and gloried in it. He said the moral conditions in the country are not equal to those in the city, and declared that the reason men from the farm are not equal to those from the city is that they are not acquainted with the city.

"To succeed, a man must be well physically," said the doctor. "The Twentieth Century is a time of great opportunity, but it is also a time of great temptation. Every man must be well enough, wise enough and good enough to accept the invitations of opportunity. To fail in the Twentieth Century is the unpardonable sin. It is a disgrace to be physically incapable of grasping opportunities."

The doctor declared that he himself would be ashamed to show his face in heaven before the age of 70 years. He said that he was born and reared on the farm and gloried in it. He said the moral conditions in the country are not equal to those in the city, and declared that the reason men from the farm are not equal to those from the city is that they are not acquainted with the city.

So, nothing to remember about "LOWNEYS"

We are manufacturers, not miners. We buy the highest cost cocoa beans that are grown—and those only—and more of them than any other manufacturer. We buy everything in the largest quantities. We have marvelously perfect machinery and the most skillful and experienced people. We have a reputation to maintain, and we use no dyes or adulterants.

Our Chocolate Bonbons, Cakes, Creams, Confections and Baking Chocolates are world famous. Nothing finer or better can be made than we make. We sell at as low a price as such goods can possibly be sold. When other makers offer to sell at lower prices, what is the logical conclusion?

Ed. Walter M. Lowery Co., Boston.

Nothing finer or better can be made than we make. We sell at as low a price as such goods can possibly be sold. When other makers offer to sell at lower prices, what is the logical conclusion?

Ed. Walter M. Lowery Co., Boston.

Nothing finer or better can be made than we make. We sell at as low a price as such goods can possibly be sold. When other makers offer to sell at lower prices, what is the logical conclusion?

Ed. Walter M. Lowery Co., Boston.

Nothing finer or better can be made than we make. We sell at as low a price as such goods can possibly be sold. When other makers offer to sell at lower prices, what is the logical conclusion?

Ed. Walter M. Lowery Co., Boston.

Nothing finer or better can be made than we make. We sell at as low a price as such goods can possibly be sold. When other makers offer to sell at lower prices, what is the logical conclusion?

Ed. Walter M. Lowery Co., Boston.

Nothing finer or better can be made than we make. We sell at as low a price as such goods can possibly be sold. When other makers offer to sell at lower prices, what is the logical conclusion?

Ed. Walter M. Lowery Co., Boston.

Nothing finer or better can be made than we make. We sell at as low a price as such goods can possibly be sold. When other makers offer to sell at lower prices, what is the logical conclusion?

Ed. Walter M. Lowery Co., Boston.

Nothing finer or better can be made than we make. We sell at as low a price as such goods can possibly be sold. When other makers offer to sell at lower prices, what is the logical conclusion?

Ed. Walter M. Lowery Co., Boston.

Nothing finer or better can be made than we make. We sell at as low a price as such goods can possibly be sold. When other makers offer to sell at lower prices, what is the logical conclusion?

Ed. Walter M. Lowery Co., Boston.

Nothing finer or better can be made than we make. We sell at as low a price as such goods can possibly be sold. When other makers offer to sell at lower prices, what is the logical conclusion?

Ed. Walter M. Lowery Co., Boston.

Nothing finer or better can be made than we make. We sell at as low a price as such goods can possibly be sold. When other makers offer to sell at lower prices, what is the logical conclusion?

Ed. Walter M. Lowery Co., Boston.